

ECS Release A Test Witness Plan

1. OBJECTIVES

This document presents the IV&V team's plan to witness and verify the ECS Release A capabilities that will be tested during the developer's Integration and Test (I&T) phase prior to the Consent to Ship Review (CSR). The primary objective of the test witnessing and analysis activity is to provide a qualitative assessment to ensure (a) that the identified requirements are appropriately and completely mapped to test cases, and (b) that the test procedures satisfactorily test the identified requirements. In addition, the IV&V team will strive to identify any functionality required by crucial L4 requirements (corresponding to the Mission Critical and Mission Essential RBRs) that the ECS I&T organization may have missed in their test scenarios. IV&V will make every attempt to provide early feedback of our findings to the ECS I&T organization with the goal of improving the overall development/integration process.

2. ASSUMPTIONS

In view of limited resources available under Task 8, the following assumptions have been made:

- The scope of the IV&V team activities (i.e., qualitative analysis of updated procedures, witnessing of test demos, and assessment of L4 requirements verification by a test) will be limited by the availability of IV&V personnel resources as well as the limitations of the test schedule produced by the ECS I&T organization. The IV&V team will prioritize its activities using the method described in Section 3.
- COTS or legacy system capabilities (e.g., ftp, compilers, bbs, etc.) will not be witnessed.
- The IV&V team will not focus on witnessing tests with capabilities that have been prototyped and/or undergone the EP process (e.g., Toolkits, Client, IOS, etc.).
- The IV&V team will not witness tests for those subsystems that contain software which has been provided by the hardware vendors (e.g., ISS).

3. METHODOLOGY

3.1 Prioritization of Test Cases To Be Analyzed and Witnessed

If resource availability and/or test schedule do not permit analysis/witnessing of all tests to be conducted by the ECS I&T organization, the IV&V team will place its highest priority on those test cases that satisfy the largest number of crucial L4 requirements (corresponding to MC and ME RBRs).

The criticality definitions for ECS functions presented in the Release A replan are as follows:

- Mission Critical (MC) functions are those that support Ingest and Archive of data needed for TRMM mission operations and external interfaces.
- Mission Essential (ME) functions are those that support L1 - L4 product generation and system management.
- Mission Success (MS) functions are those that provide additional features in support of mission critical and mission essential functions.

Although the IV&V team will start with those test cases that are listed under the mission critical functions, it should be noted that the MC, ME, and MF criticality definitions used in the RTM for RBRs are not the same as the criticality definitions given above. As such, the following information sources will be used to prioritize the test cases:

1. Test Cases to L4 to RBR mapping from the RTM.
2. RBR to L4 to Test Cases mapping from the RTM.
3. MC, ME and MS Test Cases identified in the Release A Replan.
4. Release Plan Content Description (222-TP-003-008; October 1995) and Release A Replan.

A preliminary list of prioritized test cases to be analyzed and witnessed is given in Attachment C. However, the test cases that are finally analyzed and witnessed will depend on availability of updated procedures and demo schedule provided by the ECS developer.

Note that the IV&V team will use the Release Plan Content Description document, as modified by the Release A Replan document dated September 19, 1996, as the baseline for ECS capability.

3.2 Test Witness Approach

The IV&V Test Witness process will have the following steps:

1. Each selected test case will be reviewed by an IV&V Test Analysis and Witness (TAW) team group (comprised of two personnel in most cases). One member of the group will have the lead responsibility for analyzing the test procedures, witnessing the test execution, and reporting the analysis results. The other member will act as the backup and will take over test case responsibility in the event the lead becomes unavailable.

2. Each TAW group will analyze the assigned test case procedures as described in the Release A Segment and System Integration & Test Procedures for the ECS Project Vol. 1 CSMS Procedures and Vol. 2 SDPS Procedures (322-CD-005-002). They will note any discrepancies regarding test case to L4 mapping, hardware and software configuration, test step sequence, test data access process and format, expected results etc.
3. The IV&V TAW Team will use the updated red-lined test procedures for the test procedure analysis.
4. Since a definitive schedule from the ECS developer for test procedure updates and demos is currently unavailable, the IV&V team's ability to establish a schedule for test procedure analysis feedback and demo assessment is somewhat limited at this time. However, within five days after receiving the updated procedures (earlier if possible), the IV&V team will perform a qualitative analysis of the procedures and will provide ESDIS and the ECS team with a preliminary assessment (via e-mail) of whether or not those procedures satisfactorily verify the mapped requirements.
5. During the actual test demonstration, the appropriate TAW team will attend and witness the testing activity. They will use a Daily Test Witness Log (DTWL) (see Attachment B) to record relevant events and comments. The DTWL will be used to generate a Release A Test Witness Report (TWR) (see Attachment A).
6. A three ring binder will contain all DTWLs and will be available for inspection by TAW team members as soon as a test has been completed. The binder will also contain a Test Witness Index listing the Date of Testing, Test Case Number, Person Who Witnessed the Test, and Witnesser Comments including pass/fail evaluation. In the case of a failed test, the developer's future action will also be recorded, if known.
7. The TWRs will be used to generate the Release A Test Verification TAM.
8. IV&V has modified a version of the Test Management Database (TMDB), to be called the Test Verification Database (TVDB), which will be used to report the results of the test witnessing activity. This tool will also show those requirements that have been satisfied by the test case and those requirements that have failed under the test case. Information from the TVDB will be made available on the Web sometime in early January.

3.3 Analysis Approach

The IV&V analysis will include the following:

1. Test Procedures Analysis: The IV&V team will review and analyze the test procedures for the selected test cases to ensure that the procedure will verify the traced requirements.
2. L4 Requirements to Test Case Trace Analysis: The IV&V team will identify capabilities (L4 requirements) that do not have corresponding test cases traced to them in the RTM.
3. RBR Requirements Verification Analysis: The IV&V team will verify that the L4 requirements corresponding to a given RBR are satisfied. The L4s traced to MC, ME, and MF RBRs will be considered in decreasing order of priority.
4. Procedures Update Resulting from I&T Comments Received: The IV&V team will verify if the comments and suggestions made by various reviewers have been addressed by the updated procedures.

The above analyses will allow the following metrics to be generated:

- Coverage of MC/ME Requirements in the MC/ME Test Cases: Percentage of fully verified L4 requirements corresponding to an RBR requirement of given criticality. This analysis will be based on successfully completed tests and will focus on MC, ME, and MF RBRs in order of decreasing priority.
- Partial Coverage of MC/ME Requirements by Test Cases: Percentage of partially verified L4 requirements corresponding to an RBR requirement for a given criticality. This analysis will focus on L4s traced to MC, ME, and MF RBRs in order of decreasing priority

4. REPORTING MECHANISMS

The IV&V team will use the following reporting mechanisms to communicate its findings to NASA and the ECS developer, as appropriate:

1. Within five working days of the receipt of the updated test procedures from ECS I&T (earlier if possible), the IV&V team will perform a qualitative analysis of the procedures and will provide ESDIS and the ECS I&T team with a preliminary assessment (via e-mail) of whether or not those procedures satisfactorily verify the mapped requirements.
2. One day after each witnessed test, the IV&V team will e-mail significant findings to the IV&V COTR, NASA EGS I&T personnel, and the ECS developer.
3. After all test witnessing is complete, the IV&V team will submit the ECS Release A Test Verification TAM containing evaluation metrics as well as test analysis results.

4. The TVDB will also be used to report the results of the test witnessing activity and will provide updated metrics on the overall progress of the I&T program.

PRELIMINARY LIST OF TEST CASES TO BE ANALYZED AND WITNESSED

The actual tests analyzed and witnessed will depend on on-time availability of updated test procedures and test schedule generated by the ECS developer. In case of resource shortages and/or parallel test execution, IV&V will give higher priority to those test cases that satisfy most number of crucial L4 requirements.
